Spirit of '68

Involvement

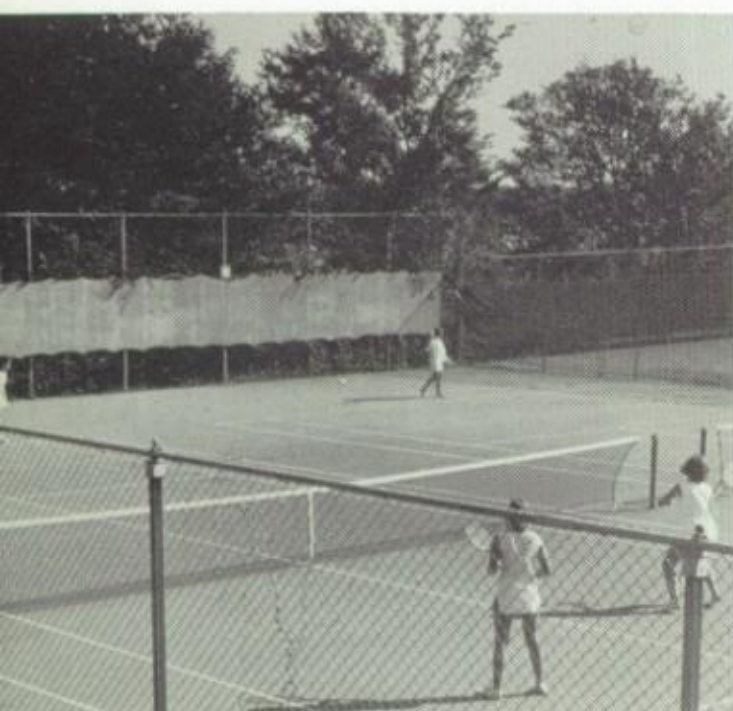

Students begin each day with a chapel service.

A new era has begun. To those of us inveterate in the old, change has been difficult. The sense of involvement has waxed and a totally new G.P.S. image has emerged. Attitudes of complaisant acceptance have evolved into feelings of enthusiastic optimism as students wholeheartedly realize their involvement in '68.

G.P.S. tennis team challenges Manker Patten ladies.

In Study

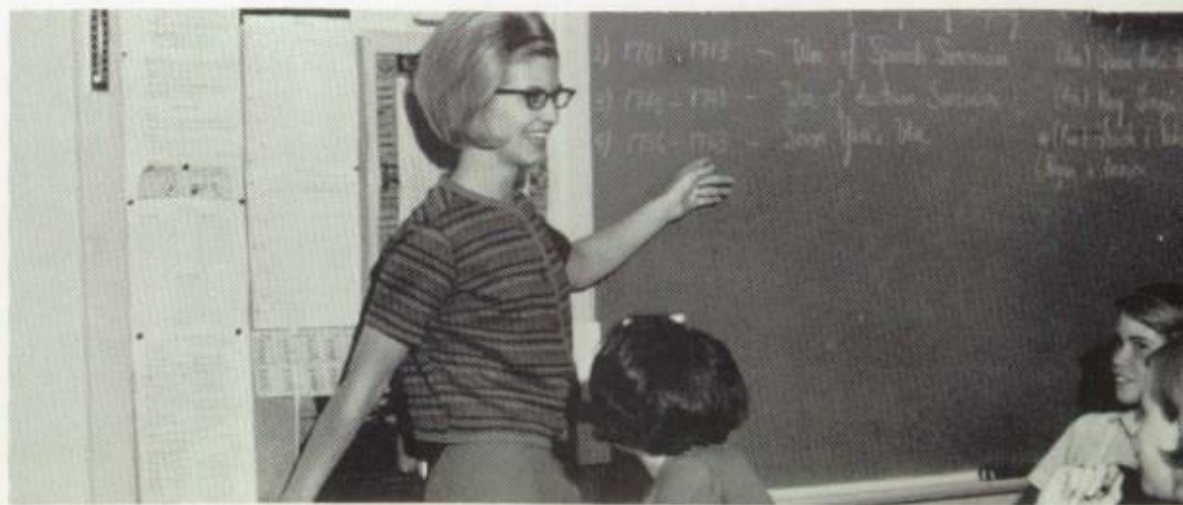

In the effort of higher achievement, several new courses have been inaugurated. In accordance with the purpose of a college preparatory education, these accelerated subjects are designed to enrich standard curriculum. Students have greeted and accepted this change with avid enthusiasm.

the first time.

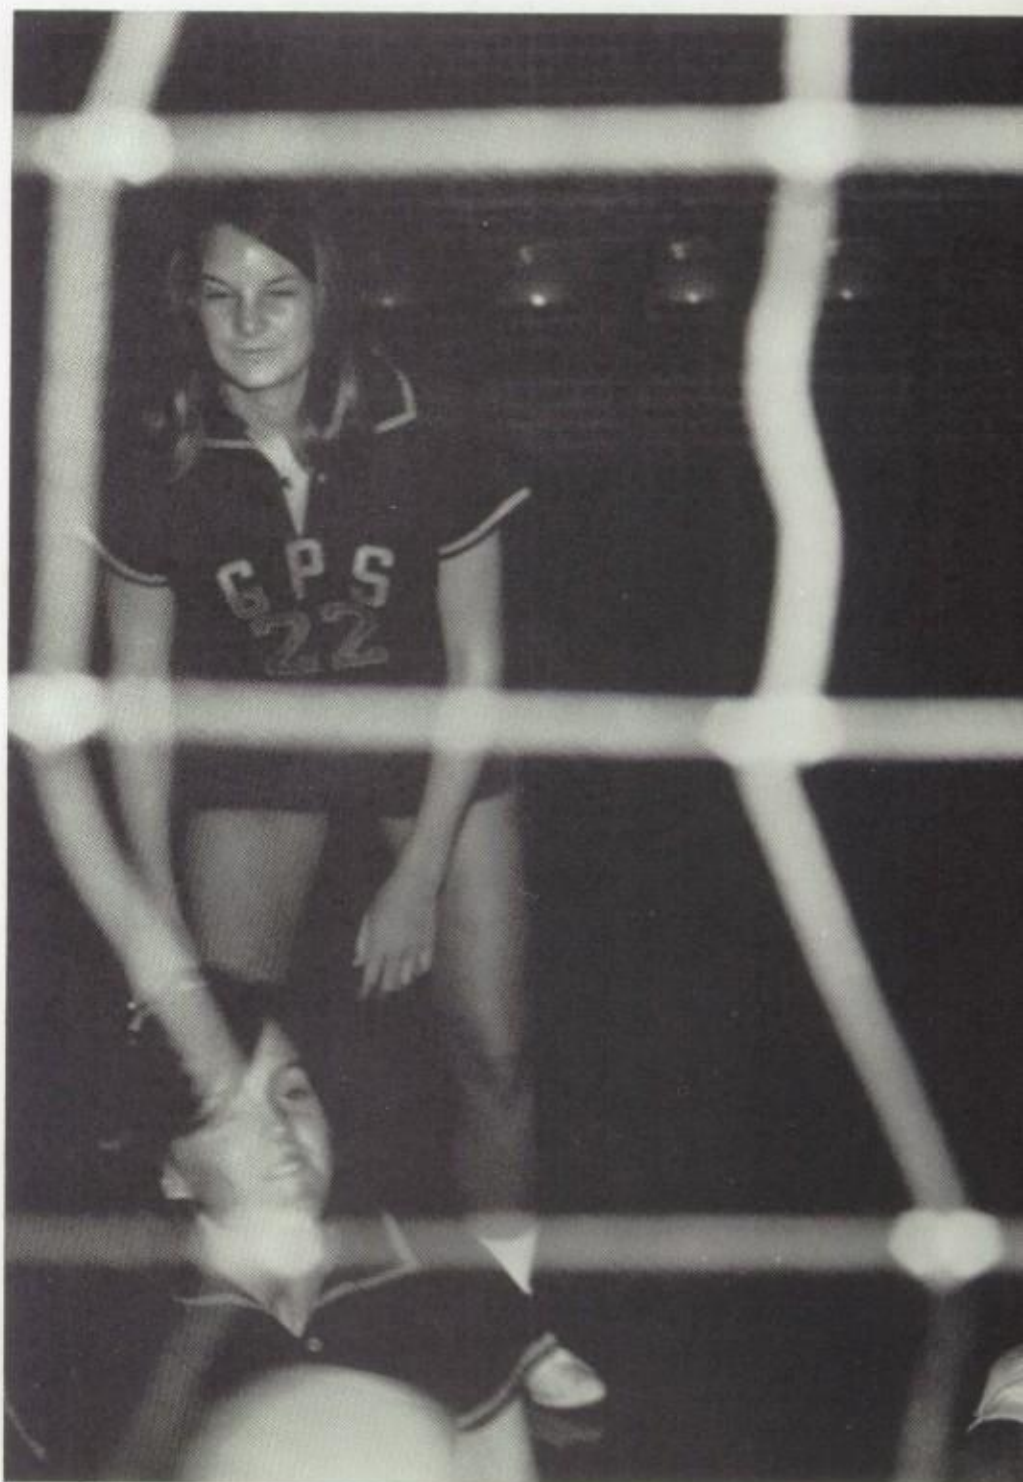

Even gay, young sophomores require occasional assistance from teachers.

Anne Ingalls, Sara Scarbrough, and Betsy Caldwell demonstrate athletic prowess.

Our victorious tennis team, our determined basketball team, and our enthusiastic volleyball team form the nucleus of athletics at G.P.S. Varsity teams promote superiority in athletics as well as provide a source of school pride.

In Athletics

This is the way youthful young figures are shaped.

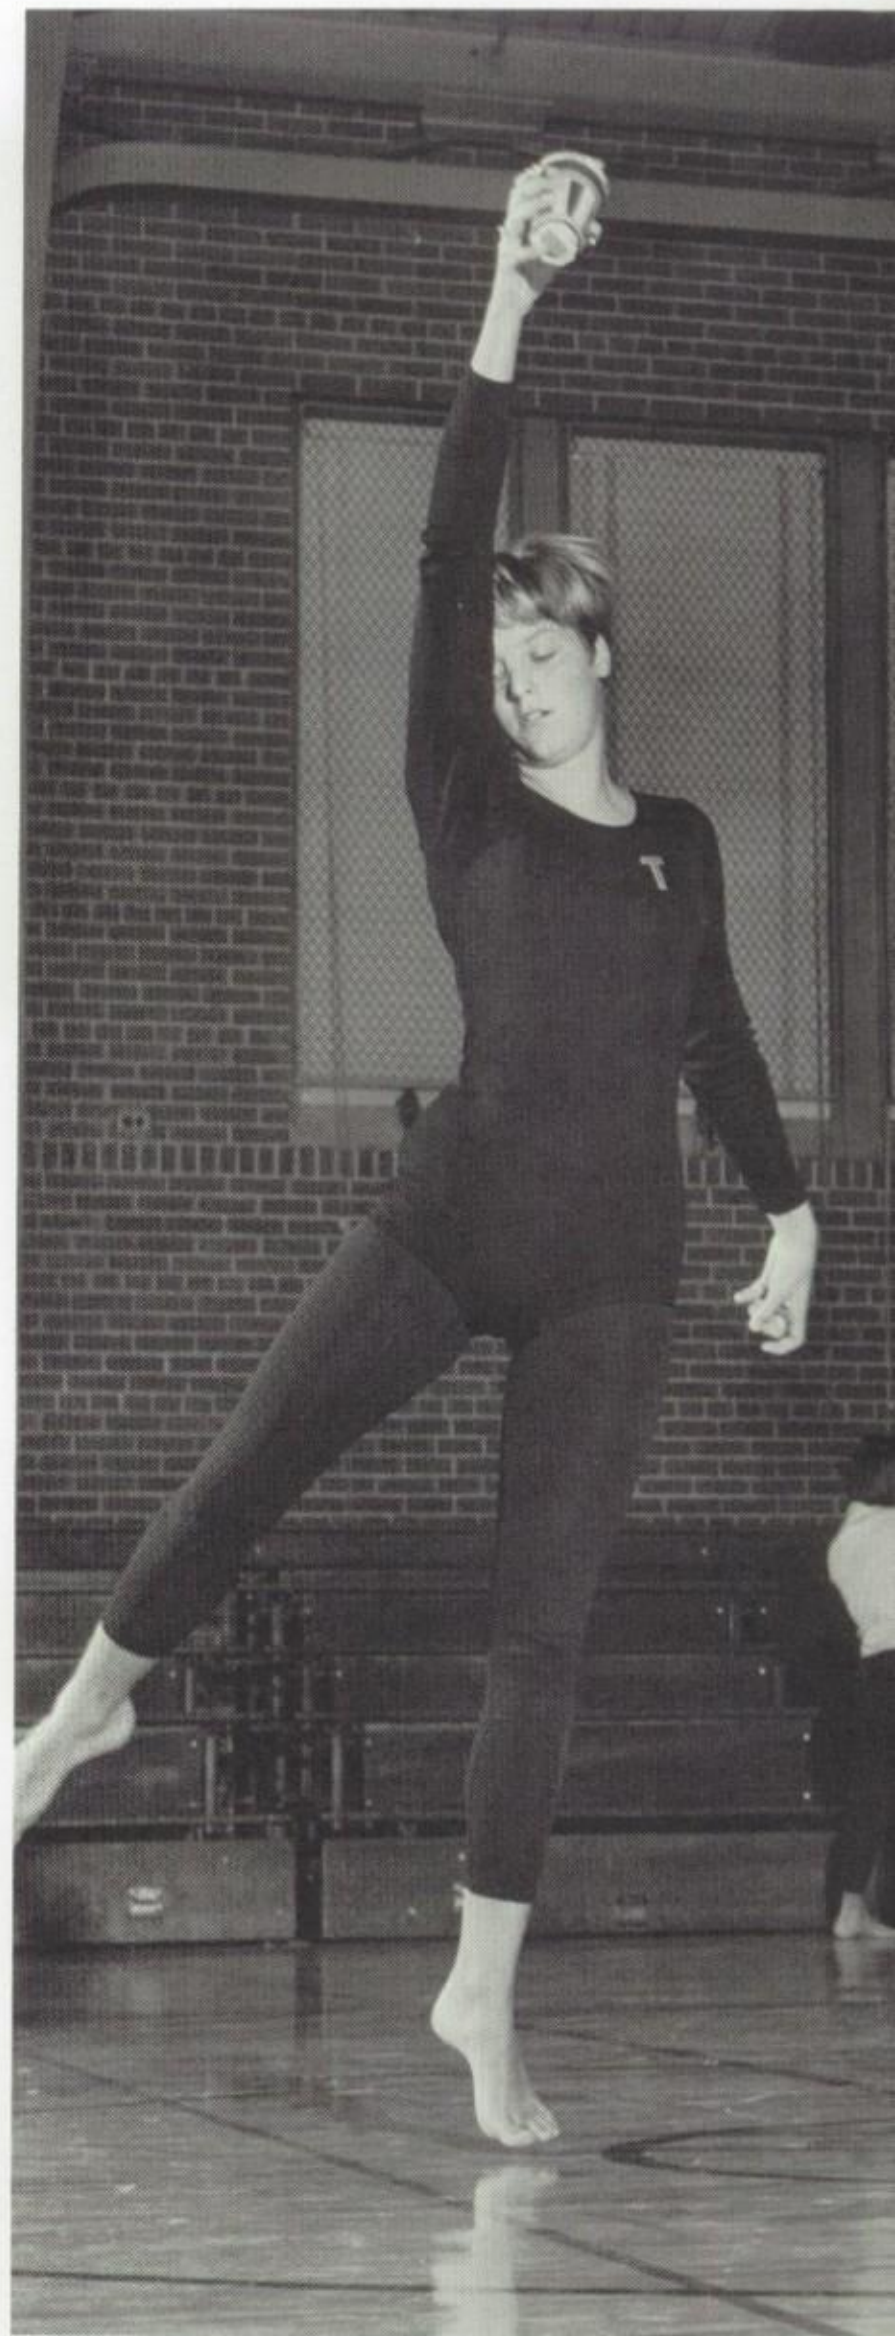

Selective reading stimulates Aeropagus discussion.

Varied organizations offer opportunity for self expression. Each girl is urged to join a club or try out for a play in order to cultivate her own particular interest or talent. Extracurricular activities demand effort and a determined spirit. By becoming involved with herself, the G.P.S. student grows to recognize her own resources.

Terpsichord strives for creative interpretation.

In Activities

Girls are challenged by newly formed debating club.

Hymnbooks are a familiar sign of chapel.

Glee club members learn to sing lustily.

And In Just Life

Finally in the culmination of all ideals, the summation of a year of effort, the G.P.S. girl extends her involvement into each facet of her private life.

"Everything that lives is holy; life delights in life."

Fashion is the by-word for teen board members.

Seniors floored by their rats at skating party.

Weezie Crutchfield and Susan Scott help out at Siskin Memorial.

Welfare chairman, Mary Hagan, collects money for annual drive.

Religion is an integral aspect of a G.P.S. girl.

Dedication

Identified by a quiet voice, a flickering smile, and a stately presence, Mrs. Clark exemplifies our idea of a true lady. Compatriot to the Annual Board, advisor to the Senior Class, and a force behind the administration, she is also extremely instrumental in our college acceptance.

It is our hope that this annual will be a representative Kaleidoscope of your efforts, past and present. Included in this dedication, Mrs. Clark, is an inspiring hope that your future will be as rewarding as you have striven to make ours.

Mrs. M. O. Clark

The Student Council, comprised of the outstanding leaders in the school, convenes each Monday to discuss factors to be improved upon and problems to be corrected. Under the capable leadership of Mary McKenzie, Karen Kimball, and Jo Buttram, many policies have been greatly modified, and constructive rules have been inaugurated.

Elizabeth Kennedy, Becky Brock, and Susan Isbell confer with President Mary.

"Come in and shut the door—we're having a party!"

The Annual Board, Ltd., 1967-68 has a definite hang-up. Although separate personality discrepancies are fortunately not obviously exposed, minute quirks do appear here and there.

"Susan Blevins, you have 10 demerits!"

Laboring assiduously, whether on the Book or ordinary homework, Annual Board members are often seriously jolted by a small female with an extremely powerful voice.

"Barbara says" "Bobby did" "Coke" . . . "another joke" "I disagree".

The disjoint members of this elite group have endeavored through sacrifice, hard work, and occasional differences of opinion to present an illustration of G.P.S. now.

Etymological experts.

A Roman villa.

For those budding Latin scholars of Junior School age, the newly formed Latin Club offers additional challenge and fun. Eighth grade students with a B average enjoy learning ancient Roman customs and augmenting their beginning study of Latin.

Pep Club

"Your pep! You've got it, now keep it! Don't lose it; we need it!" This well known cheer certainly exemplifies the spirit of the G.P.S. Pep Club. Members, chosen for their exceptional school spirit, provide the extra boost G.P.S. needs. Making posters to encourage support at games and counting class attendances at games are a few of many activities of this club.

How do we get ourselves out of this one?

Spanish

Our G.P.S. Spanish Club is an experience in learning the everyday Spanish customs, as well as the actual language. Games, dialogues, and speakers highlight the programs.

Big G's gonna romp 'em, stomp 'em.

Six months' ago I didn't know how to spell Glamorpuss and now I am one.

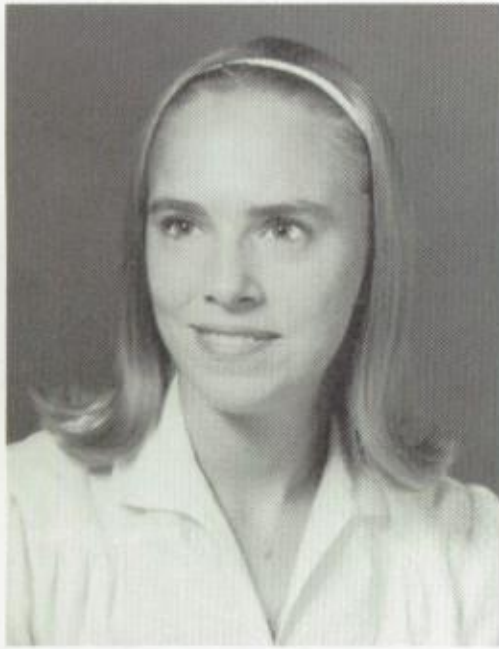

Every school needs a Ziegfield Follies.

The seniors—that glorified group of people—each standing on the threshold of adulthood! The Senior Year—the transition period—striving to recognize the intrinsic values of maturity, still clinging to adolescent enjoyment! The friends remembered that sacred year—the lessons of tolerance, forgiveness, and knowledge never to be forgotten! And it is these memories of things and friends that will be carried over to the magical world of college.

... and things continue to go better with Coke after Coke after Coke.

New Students

Jane

Susan

Jayne

This year GPS has been privileged for a short while to have in its student body, three upperclassmen from Texas and Ohio. Jayne Keedy, from Dallas, Texas, came into the Senior Class for the first semester while her father managed the fund raising drive for the University of Chattanooga. The next semester Susan and Jane Zimmerman joined the Junior and Senior Classes respectively. The Zimmermans moved here from Woodsfield, Ohio, where they began the outstanding record which they continued in Chattanooga. GPS wants to wish all of these girls good luck in their future endeavors.

Senior Superlatives??

Through the hallowed halls of GPS these sweet sixteen have trodden faithfully for six long years. For their sterling characteristics these sixteen have been chosen to represent the Senior Class' superlative qualities. By secret ballot they were chosen and were luckily caught in the act of being themselves.

Epilogue

Within the limitations of print and photograph, we, the staff of the Kaleidoscope, have attempted to capture informally the whole spirit of 1967-68—the year that was GPS. Sentimentally, this annual provides a frame of reference for the GPS Senior to recapture perhaps the most instructive and deliriously happy days of her youth. In cooperation and total dedication, we present this Kaleidoscope as a memoir of past years and a part of established heritage of GPS. We would especially like to express our appreciation to Mrs. Clark, the faculty, and the entire student body in creating another unique year in the GPS tradition.
